Dear Chairman Powell:

I am very concerned about the proposed elimination of the rules and regulations that limit a media mogul or a corporation from owning multiple forms of media in one market.

As most people know, the mass media in this country is now owned by a handful of media corporations. I understand that 6 corporations own over 80% of all media outlets. This creates a very dangerous situation, where all points of view are supposed to be represented. We are severely limiting the news perspectives that we are able to get, and that is reflected in the remarkable similarity of the news on all the channels and newspapers.

As freedom loving citizens, it is our responsibility to protect our access to truth and fair reporting, and this can only come with a diverse media ownership.

Sincerely,

Vinit Allen
